

The diagram consists of two large, teal-colored rounded rectangles positioned vertically on the left and right sides of the page. A central vertical column of five horizontal black lines connects the two rectangles. The top line is a single solid line, while the bottom four lines are double lines consisting of two parallel horizontal lines.